

Have You Heard?

Dorothy McCain Elsenius

Well, it looks like two of our former City Hall employees will be taking their first "trip" since their retirement. According to Eleanor Miller, tour director for the Live Wires, Elda Foot and Johnnie Grisham have signed up to accompany their husbands on the forthcoming tour—of the new San Jose Shopping Center!

The Albany Lions Club is planning several community projects in the near future. Among them will be the refurbishing of the baseball bleachers at Memorial Park, and the repainting of the room on the Senior Citizens Center. These fellows always manage to keep busy doing their good turns. They have also presented a check for $150 to the American Field Service Program.

We hear that Albany Rotarians were not only entertained, but were amazed at the talent displayed by Albany High School members of the cast of "South Pacific," when they presented a short but excellent program for the club's meeting last night. The full production of South Pacific will be presented at Albany High School's Little Theater March 4 through 18, at 8 p.m. Tickets for the show will be only $2 each.

The Albany Soroptimists' Fashion Show last Sunday was a rousing success and one of the best, according to those who attended. The weather couldn't have been better, the fashions by Albany's B. Young were elegant, and there were wall-to-wall door prizes. Candidates for the April election were also very noticeable in their attire.

Robert Allen, first place winner in the annual Albany Lions Student Speaker Contest, will face new competition from two Oakland Lions Clubs and one from Berkeley on Monday night, March 14, at the Albany Senior Center. If he wins this contest, he will compete with other zones and ultimately enter the state finals in Santa Barbara. State winner will receive a $3,000 scholarship. Dick Hillman, Albany High public speaking instructor has high hopes for "Bobbie," and so do we.

Congratulations to Martha and Joe Jeans who are celebrating their 10th anniversary as Realtors on Solano Ave. According to Martha, the first 10 years in the business are the hardest, so maybe they can relax just a little now.

Busy Mae Olson will get a well-deserved rest (?) for a few days, during her stay at Alta Bates Hospital in Berkeley. The doctors have her scheduled for a few tests, and City Hall's Betty Rhodes was heard telling her which room to request—the one she thought was the best in the hospital. It even has its own balcony!

Village Fire Injures Albany Firemen and Child

Three Albany firemen were injured during an early Sunday morning fire in University Village, which did an estimated $5,000 damage to the apartment building, and another $3,000 to its contents.

The firemen rescued four-year-old Reid Hoffman, who was alone in the apartment at the time of the fire. The youngster was asleep in his bedroom with the door closed and suffered from smoke inhalation. The fact that he was behind a closed door may possibly have saved his life, as his room was the only one in the apartment not damaged by the fire.

Firemen gave the child mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until the inhalator was readied. After giving him oxygen he was taken to Herrick Memorial Hospital, and after being checked by Herrick doctors he was transferred to Children's Hospital in Oakland.

Fireman Nestor Mestas was injured when a full sheet of sheet rock fell from the ceiling, striking him on the head and neck, and Fireman Bill Ledgerwood sustained an injury to his elbow.

Mark the Dates

Terri Scoggins, president of the Albany Little League's Women's Auxiliary, has announced the following important dates for all to note: April 4 is the day of the Auxiliary's rummage sale, for which rummage is still needed; April 22 will be picture-taking day at University Village for the American and National League teams.

Saturday, April 29, will be opening day for Little League season, and the Auxiliary will host the third annual LL Dinner-Dance at the Veterans' Memorial Building. Doors will open at 7 p.m., with dinner being served at 8. Dancing will follow, and many valuable prizes will be given out.

Capt. Tom Oakley suffered burns on his left elbow, and a cut on his left wrist, which required four stitches.

All firemen were subjected to severe smoke inhalation as the apartment was heavily charged with intense heat and smoke upon their arrival.

An investigation is underway to determine the cause of the fire.

Scouts Take Over Council

Members of Boy Scout Troop 12 of Albany participated last week in their annual Scouts in Government Day, by briefly taking over the seats of the Albany City Council just prior to the weekly Council meeting, which was held on Feb. 22.

Acting as Mayor was Greg Hazarabedian, Albany High School 10th grader, and a Star Scout. Other Council participants included: Albany High 9th grader and 2nd Class Scout, Sam Goldberg; Jim Morrison, Star Scout and Albany High 8th grader; Ed Hazarabedian, 1st Class Scout and also an 8th grader at Albany High, and Chris Besett, Albany High School Junior and a Star Scout.

City department heads were represented by James Haynes, AHS 8th grade Tenderfoot Scout, as City Attorney; Bruce Besette, 2nd Class Scout and AHS 9th grader, City Engineer; and City Treasurer was Tenderfoot Scout Larry Van Eckhardt.

The City Clerk's role was taken over by a new Scout, Robin Gale, who attends Cornell School, while acting as Health Officer was Rus Klonsky, a Tenderfoot Scout from Cornell School.

Acting as Police and Fire Chief were Kevin Pope, 2nd Class Scout from Cornell School, and Mike Garriques, a Tenderfoot Scout from Marin School. Both are 7th graders. Assisting in the Animal Control Dept. was David Corvello, Tenderfoot Scout and Cornell School 6th grader.

Coordinating the event were Walter Corvello, Scoutmaster for Troop 12, and City Administrator James Turner.

Fifth Generation

Albany residents and proud parents, Peter and Judy Fox, were both present for the birth of their son, Lawrence Michael, thanks to the Lamaze training Judy recently completed at Albany High School.

Born at 9:12 p.m., February 7, little Larry represents the fifth generation on his mother's side. He weighed in at 7 lbs. 13½ oz., and measured 20 inches in length on his arrival at Kaiser Hospital in Oakland.

Albany High In Awards Program

Two Albany High School seniors have been selected to represent their school in the 1972 Bank of America Achievement Awards program, according to Principal Carl Couch.

Selected by a committee made up of faculty members, the top winners will receive handsome plaques, plus the opportunity to compete for cash awards up to $1,000.

The winners, and the study fields in which they were chosen, are: Jon Van Coops, science and mathematics; and Larry Woods, liberal arts.

Ten other students were cited for their outstanding performance in specific fields of study, and will receive certificates of merit bound in leather portfolios. They are: Marc Reiterian, Linda Cabral, Ellen Woodard, Lynn Berling, Marilyn Lewis, Bob Onweller, Sandra Gyer, Shaun Allen, Laurie Martinez, and Dennis Calais.

After a screening committee carefully reviews the records of the plaque winners, the students chosen for the zone competition will be notified later this month.

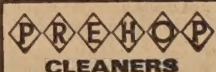

A panel consisting of civic, business and professional leaders will interview the students entering the zone events, and the winners will be chosen on the basis of scholastic records, extracurricular activities, and the personal interviews.

The top four winners in the zone finals will then advance to the highest level of the annual competition—the area finals—where they will compete for cash awards ranging from $250 to $1,000.

Second, third and fourth place winners in each study field at the zone event will receive $100, $75 and $50 awards respectively.

The purpose of the Achievement Awards program is "to recognize and honor outstanding seniors whose scholastic attainment, sense of civic responsibility and evidence of leadership give most promise of future success and service to society."

The program also helps stimulate and encourage high school students in this academic, vocational and citizenship training.

First Aid Instruction

"This is your once-a-year opportunity to learn basic life-saving skills at a convenient location in your own neighborhood," says Albany Fire Chief Gerald Browne, in discussing the free Red Cross standard first aid courses to be given in Albany this month, as a special feature of "Red Cross Month."

Enrollment is open to everyone 14 years of age or older, and Standard First Aid Certificates will be issued to those successfully completing the course.

Local classes will be held Tuesday evenings, March 7 through April 4, from 7 to 9 p.m., at the Albany Fire Department, 1001 Marin Ave.

"This may well prove to be the most valuable 10 hours you have ever spent," Chief Browne added, while urging Albany residents to register for classes now. Persons interested in attending these classes may register by calling the Berkeley Red Cross office at 845-1430.

Instructing the classes at the Albany Fire Department will be Assistant Fire Chief William Hutt, and Captains Raul Miranda and John Hoeth.

Fire Dept. Wins Again

Albany has again been named among the winners of the National Fire Protection Association's Fire Prevention Contest, according to a letter received by Fire Chief Gerald Browne.

According to the communication from Charles S. Morgan, general manager of the NFPA, Albany has won a merit award for achievement in its class, which is for cities of 5,000 to 20,000 population.

The contest is an attempt to measure the success of year-round efforts of various elements within a community to create constructive attitudes about fire safety among all the citizens. The contest's objective is also to function as a clearing house for the most effective methods of fire prevention promotion developed by a community.

In 1970 Governor Ronald Reagan presented the City of Albany with a similar award at the State Capitol.

Golden Gate Fields Opens With Plush Additions and Improvements

Its major "face lift" completed, at a cost exceeding $3,500,000, Golden Gate Fields opened last week for its 65-day spring meet, expecting to set new standards for thoroughbred competition.

Short Meeting

Mayor Hubert Call was absent from Monday night's Council meeting, due to the flu, but is expected back next week.

The four other Council members, with vice-mayor Joe Carlevaro occupying the Mayor's seat, dispensed with pertinent city business in one of the shortest meetings held in recent months.

Included in their action was the approval and adoption of two resolutions and one ordinance. The ordinance was to amend Section 15-1 of the Albany City Code, to lower the age for admission to Golden Gate Fields from 21 years to 18.

The two resolutions commended the Albany Police Reserve for their continuing volunteer services; and Don Voorhees, general manager of Golden Gate Fields, on the entire renovation of the facilities, and on their aggressive promotional program as well.

The City Attorney was instructed to prepare the proper resolution regarding the appointment of Edward C. De Oliveira as probationary policeman in the Albany Fire Department, replacing retiring John Hritz.

The Administrative Officer's request regarding a routine audit in the Treasurer's office was approved. The audit will be made just before the new Treasurer takes over in April, and should not cost more than $750.

A claim against the City of Albany, by James Luttrell, concerning an arrest for furnishing false police information, was denied and referred to the City Attorney and the City's insurance carrier; while an application by Alfred D. Lucius, for a temporary taxicab permit was granted subject to the approval of the City Attorney and the Chief of Police.

The comprehensive changes, additions and improvements accomplished in the magnificent plant will be evident to every patron who attends the program of dirt and grass racing through Saturday, June 17.

Among the most visible differences noted from past years will be the new turf course, a nine-tenths of a mile oval, 65 feet wide, just inside the famous mile-long dirt strip, on which six world's records have been set in the quarter century since Golden Gate Fields reopened after World War II.

Extensive changes in the grandstands have ended the congestion which previously impeded the free-flow of patrons in certain areas. This problem has been solved by moving the grandstand seating area 30 feet nearer to the racing strip itself, opening up huge new walk-through space and offering added mutual line-ups, food stands, restrooms and bars.

The seating area itself, has been extended eight feet beyond its former limit, thereby providing an additional row of boxes across the center portion, as well as two rows of stadium seats on either side of the box areas, increasing the seating capacity of the grandstand proper to 11,000.

NOTICE

A reminder to Albany Little Leaguers: tryouts will be held at the University Village baseball diamonds for boys eight to 13 on Saturday, March 11, and Saturday, March 18, at 10 a.m. Their draft will be held March 28 and 30.

Senior Division tryouts are scheduled for Saturday, March 25, at 10 a.m. in Memorial Park, with the draft on the same afternoon. Boys will be notified by managers as to which teams they will play on.

All physical fitness cards must be turned in to the Player Agents before participating in the tryouts.

What To Do Before, During And After An Earthquake

Part IV. After An Earthquake. The first thing to do after an earthquake is check for injuries in your family, and then in your neighborhood. Do not attempt to move seriously injured persons unless they are in immediate danger of further injury.

Next check for fires or possible fire hazards, being sure to wear sturdy shoes in all areas near debris or broken glass.

Check utility lines and appliances for damage. If gas leaks exist, shut off the main gas valve. Also shut off electrical power if there is any damage to your house wiring. Report the damage to the appropriate utility companies and follow their instructions.

Do not use matches, lighters, or open flame appliances until you are sure no gas leaks exist. Also, do not operate electrical switches or appliances if gas leaks are suspected. This creates sparks which could ignite gas from broken lines.

Do not touch downed power lines or objects touched by the downed wires.

Immediately clean up spilled medicines, drugs, and other potentially harmful materials.

If water is off, emergency water may be obtained from water heaters, toilet tanks, melted ice cubes, and canned vegetables.

Check to see that sewage lines are intact before permitting continued flushing of toilets.

Do not eat or drink anything from open containers near shattered glass. Liquids may be strained through a clean handkerchief or cloth if danger of glass contamination exists.

If power is off, check your freezer and plan meals to use up foods which could spoil quickly. Use outdoor charcoal broilers for emergency cooking.

Do not use your telephone, except for genuine emergency calls. Turn on your radio for damage reports and information, and above all, do not spread rumors. They often do great damage following a disaster.

Check your chimney over its entire length for cracks and damage, particularly in the attic and at the roof line. Unnoticed damage could lead to a fire. The initial damage check should be made from a distance. Approach chimneys with caution.

Check closets and storage shelf areas. Open closet and cupboard doors carefully, and watch for objects falling from shelves.

Do not go sightseeing immediately, particularly in beach and waterfront areas where seismic sea waves could strike. Keep the street clear for passage of emergency vehicles.

Be prepared for additional earthquake shocks, called "aftershocks." Although most of these are smaller than the main shock, some may be large enough to cause additional damage.

Respond to requests for help from police, fire fighting, civil defense, and relief organizations, but do not go into damaged areas unless your help has been requested.

Cooperate fully with your public safety officials. In some areas you may be arrested for getting in the way of disaster operations.

There are no rules which can eliminate all earthquake danger. However, damage and injury can be greatly reduced by following the simple rules contained in these articles.

In the Clubhouse, which occupies the third of the four levels at Golden Gate Fields, the entire area has been remodeled to achieve the same increase in seating capacity and walk-through ease noted in the grandstand. The former dining room area has been converted into a new betting-bay, and a brand new dining room has been built out on the ground level of the Bay side of the structure, affording a panoramic view of the Golden Gate and the distant San Francisco and Marin shores. North of the entrance to the Clubhouse and Turf Club, the mutual windows have been moved west by 30 feet, creating an additional wagering area and open space for patrons.

The entrance to both Clubhouse and Turf Club now adjoin from the "top of the hill" level on the Bay side. A new Seafood Bar has opened adjacent to the Clubhouse entrance, and new bank-type mutual windows have been installed throughout the Clubhouse area. Additional food facilities and rest rooms have also been opened throughout the plant.

A new elevator now supplements the grand stairway leading to the Turf Club, and a "special groups" area, at the south end of the Club, approaching the first turn, has been glassed in, enlarged and renovated to accommodate the ever-growing demand for facilities for civic, public service and charitable groups utilizing special days at the track as a means of raising funds.

At the foot of the grandstand escalator a new gift shop has been designed and erected, offering favors and souvenirs of every description, and new turnstile entrances and admission booths will be found at both the north and south ends of the main level of the stands.

"We're looking forward to Northern California's finest racing season since we re-opened the Fields in 1947," said Don Voorhees, manager of Golden Gate Fields. "We have made every effort to give thoroughbred patrons the finest facilities and competition possible. And we are sure they will respond."

Voorhees and his staff are already thinking ahead to the 1973 racing season. Next year the California Derby will be 100 years old—older even than the Kentucky Derby, and they are planning to develop a program fitting enough to mark the centennial.

Albany High School Scene

If Albany High School students had the option of staying in school or dropping out, which would they do?

A survey taken last semester by Homi Mansoori, an AHS senior, asked the question. The results of the survey were interesting and a bit surprising. Out of 198 students participating in the poll, 189 said they would remain in school if they had the choice.

If attendance were not mandatory 20 percent said they would come all the time and 55 percent said they would come most of the time.

The nine percent who said they would drop out gave various reasons for their decision. They criticized education in general.

"It's too impersonal."

"It's only a teacher-book-student relationship."

The majority of the students, the ones that would choose to stay in school, also had gripes about school. Many complained of the same things that the other nine percent of students who would drop out, complained of.

The most frequent complaint was that school was boring and the subjects being taught were presented in an unchallenging way.

Along with the complaints were also some good points they found about education.

"There are more new classes and they are a lot more interesting."

"Education in general has improved tremendously."

plan this unique ecumenical summer program, which helps bring children of different denominations together to play, study, and worship in unity, is asked to contact Kay Irwin, 527-1792, or at attend the above meeting.

The program, which will be held during the week of August 14, is the seventh annual North Berkeley Christian Community Week.

The survey wasn't specific enough to give a strong enough view of the students opinion on education at Albany High, but one student summed up the general feelings this way, "At least I give Albany High credit for trying new and different things."

Tax Returns Going Astray

A large and growing number of individuals in California are sending their income tax returns to the wrong agency, according to a state official. They have apparently misunderstood one aspect of the new law on state personal income tax withholding, he said.

The official, Elgurd I. Hansen, Director of the Department of Human Resources Development, said HRD was assigned only one responsibility under the new law: the collection of state income taxes withheld by employers starting in 1972.

"But many people are sending us their personal income tax returns for 1971 or requests for refunds," Hansen said. "Some people are even sending us their federal income tax returns," he said.

Hansen said HRD has already received several thousand of these misdirected tax returns or refund request "and more are coming in every day."

Hansen appealed to the public to take note of the following:

—All matters relating to federal taxation should be addressed to the Internal Revenue Service.

—All matters relating to California State income tax should be addressed to the State Franchise Tax Board, with the sole exception of items relating directly to the new withholding procedure. These would be handled by employers or their accountants directly with HRD.

Hansen emphasized particularly that HRD was not the agency to contact regarding 1971 income taxes. California tax items should be addressed to the Franchise Tax Board. Federal tax items should be addressed to the Internal Revenue Service.

Hansen said the HRD's involvement in collection of the withheld taxes came about because HRD already receives disability insurance and unemployment insurance returns from employers.

"Economy and efficiency dictated the move. A small addition to existing returns already being submitted by most California employers was all that was required," Hansen said. "In other words, this is a mechanical convenience to employers and to the state, nothing more. It does not change the relationship between the individual taxpayer and the Franchise Tax Board."

ABAG Raises City Dues

If you live in a Bay Area city and county that belongs to the Association of Bay Area Governments, it cost you six cents in 1971. Each county and city member of ABAG pays dues of three cents per capita.

ABAG's 1972-73 budget, to be considered by the General Assembly on February 24, 7:30 p.m., at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco, will raise the city dues to four cents per capita.

Because dues are figured on population, small cities have not been paying "the basic costs of servicing," according to Councilman David Martin of Burlingame, chairman of ABAG's finance committee.

Currently the ratio between the highest and lowest dues of member cities is 3200 to 1. A proposed flat membership fee of $120 per year in addition to the per capita assessment would change that ratio to 300 to 1.

At seven cents a year, Martin points out that ABAG membership is one of government's biggest bargains. Because ABAG can take local funds and match these with state and federal grants, its planning program for 1972 will be worth 29 cents for every Bay Area resident.

In addition, ABAG's planning programs in open space, water quality and transportation help meet federal requirements for local jurisdictions applying for assistance. Last year more than $105 million in federal funds came into the Bay region in these three areas. This was worth $23.45 for every Bay Area resident.

The proposed 1972-73 ABAG budget totals $1,287,500. Last year's budget approved by the General Assembly was the same amount, but actual expenditures for the year will be about $900,000. This is due to unavailability of funds from outside sources in certain program areas and a reduced role for regional criminal justice planning activities.

Major programs in the proposed budget include:

$95,000 to complete the regional housing plan.

$90,000 to complete the regional parks and open space plan. This is a joint program with the East Bay Regional Park District.

$35,000 for the second year a joint program with the Water Quality Control Board which will produce a "fully developed basin plan" for water quality.

$50,000 to develop a regional economic policy.

$30,000 to develop a regional urban growth policy.

Other planning programs include airports, unified land physical resources (a joint program with federal agencies) and citizen participation.

Cities and counties would provide $340,000 of the $1.2 million budget. $390,000 will be received from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development. The balance of the proposed budget comes from the agency of federal, state and local agencies.

Interested citizens are urged to attend the February 24 General Assembly session.

The Mail Bag

Dear, the Times:

Last week two of our neighborhood newspapers quoted out of context, and greatly distorted, my comments regarding lowering the age of majority which was made at our Feb. 22 City Council meeting.

The newspaper articles stated I had said that betting would improve citizenship, which, of course, I did not say at all.

I stated at the Council meeting, which a number of Boy Scouts were present, that lowering the age of majority to 18 might make youth more responsible citizens at an earlier age, and that young people should accept responsibilities that go along with the privileges they are given.

I have requested the editors responsible for the misleading headlines and news articles to publish a correction, and appreciate your publishing this letter to set up the distortion of my remarks, which I rightfully resent.

Very truly yours,
HUBERT F. CALL
Mayor

Dear, the Times:

An open letter to all citizens, especially the Senior Citizens: On Wednesday, Feb. 23, 1972, Albany Homeowners and Taxpayers Association ran an article in the Albany Times telling you could get a copy of Senior Citizens Property Tax Act Schedule. If any of you received a copy with the name of any candidate or candidate for any office, these names were printed and paid for by the Albany Homeowners and Taxpayers Association.

Further, so that you will not be misled, should your copy have a stamp of any candidate or candidate, please be informed that the Albany Homeowners and Taxpayers Association, as an Association or group DOES NOT repeat DOES NOT endorse any candidate for any office.

Who our members support as individuals is their business. Any individuals and many organizations received this press release from the office of Senator Petris, but the Albany Homeowners and Taxpayers Association were not content to just lay aside, we did something about it. We had it reprinted and distributed so that you, our Senior Citizens, could have the full information to which you are entitled.

Sincerely yours,

Postal Service Expands Airmail

Thirty-nine new air taxi routes were added during the past month to improve U.S. airmail service.

"The addition of the new routes will provide the Postal Service with more air taxi service than ever before in its history," Postmaster General Winton M. Blount said recently.

He noted that more than 7 1/2 million letters will be carried daily over the 39 new routes, and all told, the Postal Service will have 150 air taxi routes in operation, including these additions.

Air taxis are planes carrying up to 4,000 pounds of mail and hired under contract to operate on schedules best suited to mail deliveries.

Most air taxi routes operate on "round-trip" schedules to permit delivery overnight between origin and destination points, including intermediate cities. The average route is about 507 miles on a round-trip basis.

The additional routes will implement further the Postmaster General's recently announced goal under which delivery is provided next day for airmail between designated cities within a sonally ordered the weather for their first Saturday of racing this season. The day was beautiful, the crowd tremendous and every one seemed to be enjoying themselves—even the losers. The attendants all seem most courteous—"Good luck," "Enjoy yourself," and "Have a good day," seemed to be the general greetings from all the hired help.

Some people seem to have worse luck than others at the track, and for some it borders on the ridiculous. For instance, last Saturday one fellow placed a $2 bet on each of five horses running in one race—and the tier four he didn't bet on came in!

Emil and Louise Damonte are eagerly awaiting the birth of daughter Joanne Provost's first child, now overdue by about a week. Emil says Louise is sleeping with one hand on the phone these nights. Emil isn't sure he's sleeping at all—prospective father Tom Provost seems to be taking it all in his stride, while Joanne is just impatient.

Lou Tripodi was one of the unfortunate ones who contracted pneumonia following a bout with the flu. He's a patient at Doctors' Hospital in Pinole, according to his wife, Ruth.

The annual Albany Field Service pancake breakfast has been scheduled for Sunday, March 12, and will be held in the Cornell School cafeteria.

Those accomplished and veteran pancake chefs, Jack Murrow and Paul Calderhead, are promising a delicious repast of pancakes, ham, juice, coffee and milk for only $1.25, with children under 6 admitted free.

The serving hours will be from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.—giving everyone a chance to eat unhurried, either before or after church.

Invitation To UCLA Day

Northern California high school seniors and juniors are invited to attend a gala UCLA Day Sunday, March 5, at the Presidio in San Francisco, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The day will take on a festive atmosphere with films being shown in the Presidio Theater, along with the Bruin Band, song girls, and cheerleaders staging a miniature pep rally.

Purpose of the event, according to John Lukrich, president of the Bay Area Bruin Club, who are sponsoring the day in conjunction with the USCLA Alumni Association, is to attract outstanding high school students to UCLA and to generate interest and participation in UCLA activities among alumni living in Northern California.

Members of the UCLA administration, faculty, alumni and ASUCLA officials will be on hand to "rap" with potential students throughout the day.

Any high school juniors or seniors wishing to attend are asked to contact their school counselors for details.

Jeans' 10th Anniversary

Martha and Joe Jeans, of Jeans Realty, are celebrating their 10th anniversary on Solano Avenue in Albany.

Mrs. Jeans opened her first office at 1258 Solano on March 1, 1962, after her husband suffered a serious heart attack, which precluded his continuing as a trucking company executive.

Thanks to many friends, a loyal staff, and the cooperation of her friendly competitors, the business prospered at this address until 1965, when, due to the eminent construction of BART they moved to their present location at the corner of Solano and Santa Fe Avenues.

Mrs. Jeans says that there have been many ups, downs, and changes during her 20 years as a broker. The greatest and most far-reaching has been the change from business to professional status.

Since its inception, Jeans Realty has used as an office slogan "Satisfaction. Our only product," which exemplifies their theory of operation—satisfaction for the seller, buyer, salesman and broker.

The present staff consists of: Mr. and Mrs. Jeans, both Realtors; Emily K. Kalb, a saleslady who has been with the operation since 1963; salesman Roy O. Wilmoth and Merritt M. Thomas, and Velma G. Barnett, secretary.

New Credit Card Regulations Issued

Businesses issuing credit cards will be confronted with an absolute non-liability situation on the part of their credit card holders, after January 24, for any and all credits, unless they toe the mark under the Truth in Lending Act, according to the Commerce Clearing House.

Specifically, businesses may place liability for unauthorized use of credit cards (but only the lesser of $50 or the amount obtained by the unauthorized use) only if several conditions are met.

First: the card must be an accepted card, meaning that the cardholder made application for the card or signed for use, or authorized another to use the card, or renewed or received a substitution of an accepted card by the same or a successor card issuer, according to CCH's consumer credit guide.

Also the business must have given adequate notice of potential liability, either on the card or within two years preceding the unauthorized use.

Over 400,000 adults and children are wearing curious, bright red metal emblems as charms, bracelets or necklaces.

They are not members of some secret organization . . . but they do wear these discs possibly to help save their lives.

The emblems are designed to help prevent tragic and even fatal mistakes in the course of administering first-aid or emergency treatment to those with a non-obvious medical condition.

On the front side of the disc is the familiar physician's symbol. Engraved on the other side is a record of the individual's medical problems, along with his membership number and the telephone number of the center's computerized answering file.

The Medic Alert Foundation International, located in Turlock, Calif., was established in 1956, to promote the wearing of these emergency identifications.

State Bar of California, the Contra Costa County Bar Association, Legal Reference Panels and the El Cerrito Lions Club.

His wife, Patricia, is a legal secretary. They have two children, a boy and a girl, currently attending Castro School.

Third, the business must have provided a self-addressed, pre-stamped notice for use by the cardholder, in event of loss or theft.

Finally, the unauthorized use must have occurred before the cardholder notified the business of the unauthorized use.

In addition to these requirements, businesses must provide a method of identification of the card user as an authorized user, such as signatures, photos, fingerprints, or any electronic or mechanical confirmation.

PTA Poster Contest

Many PTA units are taking part in the statewide California PTA and California Youth Authority sponsored contest "Why Delinquency?"

The purpose of the contest is to create discussion and thought in classrooms and at home, concerning what personal actions of youth and adults are best for the individual and society as a whole.

It is hoped that through discussion, the resulting posters might answer the questions of: What is delinquent behavior? What might be the cause of it? And how it might be prevented.

PTA councils within the various school districts of the 16th District PTA have set up guidelines and deadlines for posters. Deadline for receiving posters has been set for April 1.

Hospital Tour

For PTA Council

Members and friends of Albany PTA Council are invited to Children's Hospital Medical Center, 51st and Grove, Oakland, on Wednesday, Mar. 8, for luncheon and a tour of the hospital.

Dorothy Larimer, public relations director of the hospital, will be hostess for the visitors. The Bing Crosby-narrated film will be shown. There will be a brief presentation about the hospital and a few special patients.

The trip to the hospital will follow the regular Council meeting. Luncheon is $2. Reservations must be made by Monday, Mar. 6, by calling Phyllis Criss at 525-3449 or Council President Margaret Jaekle, 526-6577.

Tickets, which will be sold at the door, are $1.50 for adults, $1.25 for students with student body cards, and $1 for children.

Speed Change

For Marin Ave.?

Members of the Albany Traffic and Safety Commission will advise the City Council of their belief that the speed limit on Marin Avenue, east of San Pablo, should be increased from 25 mph to 30 mph.

According to a discussion held by members at a recent meeting, few Marin Avenue motorists are driving at or under the present limit of 25 mph. It was felt that the present limit is not realistic, and traffic flowed much more uniformly and safely at a somewhat higher speed.

Commission members also declared that if those drivers who strictly complied with the 25 mile per hour speed limit were encouraged, by a 30 mph limit, to drive nearer that speed, there would be less friction between very slow and faster drivers.

60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jones of Albany will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on Saturday, Mar. 4, at Spenger's Fish Grotto in Berkeley.

Family members joining in the celebration include their son Melvin and his wife; daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Williams; granddaughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Reid, and grandson, Mr. Gary Williams.

Close friends attending the festivities include Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wyrick and Mrs. Charles Neckel.

Mrs. Jones is a native of Berkeley. She and her husband are newcomers to the City of Albany.

More Than Blankets and Coffee

When people describe the Red Cross, they usually mutter something about fires, blankets and coffee. Or, think of a World War I recruiting poster—with nurses, bandages and all. But times have changed—and so has the Red Cross.

Although they still respond to fires (they were a great help in the Berkeley Hills fire), and routinely assist victims of local and nationwide disasters—today the word "disaster" takes on many new meanings, and these new disasters are what the new Red Cross is all about.

New Red Cross innovations include a Creative Living Center, manned by professionals and Red Cross volunteers, established to provide a means of helping people released from state hospitals to return to socialization through recreation, arts and crafts.

How To Foil Bike Thefts

Along with the great upsurge in bike riding, regrettably has come a big increase in bicycle thefts.

Although there is no absolutely certain way to protect a cycle, American Youth Hostels, Inc., offers the following helpful ideas:

1. Use two chains, both locked to a bike rack. Pass one through the rear wheel and frame, the other through the front wheel and frame.
2. It is generally agreed that a high quality key lock is safer than a combination lock.
3. Heavy tempered chain is now in vogue, but tough cable also enjoys a good reputation.
4. License your bike with your local Police Dept. Record the serial number, and engrave your driver's license number under the bottom bracket on the frame (youngsters should use their parents' license number). Also mark the frame in some way, known only to yourself, for positive identification if stolen.
5. A delaying tactic that will often foil a young thief is to place a penny behind each brake lever. This locks the brakes on and makes the bike impossible to ride.
6. Convince your employer or car park operator that he should provide a safe place to park bikes. Some employers are enclosing bike racks with high fences and only bike riders receive keys to the gate.
7. Ride in pairs, so that one person can always stay with the cycles.
8. Park your bike so you can watch it while in a shop or restaurant.
9. If you have quick-release hubs, take your front wheels with you if you must leave the bike for a long period. However, it's still a good idea to chain the rear wheel and frame to something.
10. It's best not to leave accessories on a bike you park around town or on campus, as the stealing of pumps, water bottles, saddlebags and other accessories is on the rise.

Tips from a Pro

It's Kite Flying Time

Wile E. Coyote winds up high as a kite in the 1972 version of Pacific Gas and Electric Company's kite fun booklet for boys and girls lured out with their kites by spring's windy days.

If one Road Runner spells trouble for Wile E., then four Road Runners are a disaster for this denizen of the desert, who returns to the pamphlet after an absence of four years.

The color comic booklet is free at all PG&E offices. It provides patterns and instructions for building kites and offers puzzles and games as diversions on rainy days when kite flying is not safe. The booklet is available in quantity for group or school use.

While making Wile E. a captive audience, the family of Road Runners impart the following kite safety laws:

1. Always use wood and paper in your kite, not wire or metal.
2. Always use string, not wire or anything metallic.
3. Always fly your kite on days when there is no rain.
4. Always avoid busy streets or highways while flying your kite.
5. Always fly your kite away from radio and television antennas.
6. Always fly your kite far from electric power line or utility poles.

'Speedy' Mail Test Successful

A 13-state drive to take the bugs out of special delivery mail service was launched recently by the U.S. Postal Service.

Postmaster William Wollman said a pilot program which successfully boosted special delivery to new levels of dependability in the San Francisco metropolitan area is being extended to all Western States.

The Berkeley Post Office was one of 112 Bay Area postal units participating in the pilot test. The 45-day trial produced 96 percent dependability.

As a result, Regional Postmaster General Fred Mullen directed that the pilot program be extended to the entire Western Region, including Alaska and Hawaii.

The Region-wide program involves use of plastic bags labeled "Speedy" to carry special delivery letters so they don't lose their identity in the mail stream.

"Up to now, it has been difficult to keep special delivery mail separated from regular mail," Postmaster Wollman said.

"By placing special delivery mail in the 'Speedy' bags, it is immediately identifiable and retains this special identity until it is delivered to destination."

"We found that the Speedy-bag system worked well in the Berkeley Post Office, and I recommended that it be extended to the 13 Western States for a broader test," Postmaster Wollman said.

More than 20 million pieces of special delivery mail are handled annually in the Western States, he added.

7. Always call PG&E if your kite does get snagged in a power line. Do not pull the string or climb power poles or trees near power lines to free a snagged kite.

8. Always keep away from fallen wires.

Social Security Benefit Reminder

The Berkeley district office of the Social Security Administration has issued a reminder to those who may soon be eligible for Social Security benefits that they should acquire proof of age well in advance.

Such proof is the key factor in processing claims for benefits. In addition, birth dates and relationships must also be established for dependents entitled to benefits.

A birth or baptismal certificate recorded before the applicant's fifth birthday is usually adequate proof of age. But if either document is registered in a distant state or foreign country it is advisable to send for a copy well ahead of time.

Social security personnel offer assistance in obtaining documents and in developing proof of age. All documents must be either originals or copies certified by a records custodian.

Persons unable to obtain birth certificates may secure proof of age from family Bibles, marriage records, school or federal census records, etc.

People otherwise eligible for Social Security benefits need proof that they are at least 65 years of age to collect full benefits, or proof that they are 62 or older to collect reduced benefits.

Proof that a person is 65 or older must be shown also to be covered by Medicare, which is also administered by Social Security.

Children with proof of birth dates and relationships to workers involved are eligible for benefits. They may collect monthly Social Security benefits until they are 18, or until they are 22 if they remain full-time students and are unmarried.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Berkeley Social Security District Office, 841-5121.

Free Day Care in Near Future?

Adequate facilities to meet the needs of children with working mothers have become the overriding concern of everyone from Women's Lib to state legislators.

Day care centers have been rather slow in coming, despite efforts by Congress, other governmental bodies, as well as private industry, to find a massive plant for small community-based facilities, foster homes and standard day-care centers.

A solution may have been developed by the U.S. Office of Education.

This summer the Office opened its own model day-care center, which serves 50 children of women who work in its offices and bureaus.

The children involved are three and four-year olds, with 60 percent coming from low-income households. Ten percent of the children also have some sort of handicap.

Office of Education researchers feel this group offers a large enough sample to determine the impact of the center on the parents' morale, use of sick leave, and general work performances.

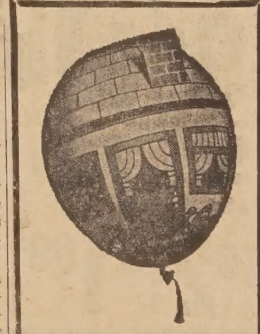

"In the past, day care has been either custodial, with children kept tranquilized by too many naps, or, if it included creative play, it was too expensive and intended only for the better income families," says Dr. Martin Engel of the Office of Education's National Center for Education Research and Development. He concluded, "We hope in this project to fuse custodial and nutritional care, as well as creative play and education."

Eisenhower Coin Jackpot

The Eisenhower Dollar, the first one minted in the United States since 1935, and possibly the last to be made of silver, may earn more than $100 million in profit for the U.S. Government.

The profit will be stretched out over several years as the U.S. Mint disposes of some 150 million "Ike" silver dollars to collectors and others interested in buying it at a premium. The dollars are currently being sold at two prices to the public—$3 for mass-produced uncirculated coins, and $10 for the highly polished, high-relief proof coin.

According to Mary T. Brooks, Director of the Mint, orders for the coin bearing the likeness of our former president, "are coming in by the millions. We hope to make $1 each on the uncircu-

LAW IN ACTION

THE BATTERED CHILD

As a rule, the law does not like to interfere with relations between parent and child. Parents may use reasonable force to discipline their child.

Teachers, neighbors, doctors, or kinfolk often report suspected cases to the police or a welfare agency.

Since 1963 the law calls upon doctors to report child patients who seem to have been treated cruelly. The law now calls upon dentists, religious practitioners, school nurses, or public health employees to report such cases.

They may phone or write in their report to the police or the juvenile probation department. They should give the child's name, address, and his injuries.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

In the past doctors or nurses didn't need to report if to do so would be in their opinion "inconsistent with the health, care, or treatment of a minor." Now they must report all such injuries.

Reports go to the State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation. Failure to report is a misdemeanor. The reporter is immune from liability. No parent can sue him for slander or for interfering with his home.

The Legislature requires reports from the school superintendent, principal or a director of county welfare who may have noticed the injury.

A court may sentence anyone for as much as 10 years in prison if he willfully causes great bodily harm to a child. The parent who inflicts on a child "unjustifiable" physical pain or mental suffering, may face charges which call for six months in jail, a fine, or both.

Hyperventilation

Too many deep breaths before diving underwater can cause a blackout and possible a drowning, warns the American Red Cross.

"Deep breathing can cause hyperventilation," explains Joan Campbell, Safety Programs director for the Berkeley-Albany Red Cross chapter. Hyperventilation is the term used to describe the condition created by an excessive rate and depth of respiration leading to abnormal loss of carbon dioxide in the blood.

"When a swimmer hyperventilates," says Miss Campbell, "he increases his breath-holding time by blowing off carbon dioxide in his blood. When the carbon dioxide content is lowered, bodily functions are altered and mental

Bomb Scare Booklet

WHEN a voice over the phone says: "There's a bomb planted in your building!"—what would you do?

Everyone hopes it will never happen—but such calls are becoming more frequent, with governmental and other public buildings becoming the most common targets.

The State's Department of Public Services, which runs the state's buildings, is preparing a booklet on what to do in the event of a bomb threat, fire, or other emergency.

In this case (bomb threat), you would call the authorities, and if a time detonation is given, start a search. In any case, orderly evacuation of the building should take place well ahead of time. If a suspicious object is discovered—leave it alone. Disposal is a job for professionals.

But for all emergencies, the best procedure is to have a predetermined plan, then follow it.

As for other advice in making emergency plans for your office building or other place of employment, the Department of General Services hopes to have its booklet ready for general distribution in the very near future.

confusion can result."

If a person attempts to swim underwater for a long period after hyperventilating, a considerable amount of time may elapse before the carbon dioxide level, which has been reduced by the deep breathing, will provide a strong stimulus to resume breathing. The oxygen level in the body may also be lowered to a point where the swimmer will lose consciousness before he has the urge to breathe.

When a blackout occurs after hyperventilation, warns the safety director, the swimmer will drown unless there is someone around to assist him to the surface.
